MIND AND BODY.

Human Emotions Have a Potent Effect Upon the Physical Being.

A man is handed a telegram. He is eating and enjoying his dinner. He reads the contents of the message. Almost immediately afterward his body is a-tremble, his face either reddens or grows "asby white," his appetite is gone; such is the effect of the mind upon the stomach that it literally refuses the food; if forced upon it it may reject it entirely.

A message is delivered to a lady. She is in a genial, happy mood. Her face whitens, she trembles and her body falls to the ground in a faint, temporarily helpless, apparently lifeless. Such are the intimate relations between the mind and the body.

Great stress or anxiety or fear may in two weeks' or even in two days' time so work its ravages that the person looks ten years or even twenty years older. A person has been long given to worry or perhaps to worry in extreme form, though not so long; a well defined case of indigestion and general stomach trouble, with a generally lowered and sluggish vitality has become pronounced and fixed.

Any type of thought that prevails in our mental lives will in time produce its correspondence in our physical lives. As we understand better these laws of correspondences we will be more careful as to the types of thoughts and emotions we consciously or unwittingly entertain and live with. The great bulk of all diseases are generated in the body through certain states and conditions of mind.—Ralph Waldo Trine in Woman's Home Companion.

FALL PLOWING FOR CORN.

A Good Method of Combating Destructive Worms.

[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

Although fall plowing cannot be recommended for all soils and localities, experts in the United States department of agriculture believe that corn growers in this country are not sufficiently aware of its advantages and that it could be profitably practiced more generally than is done at present. Even when there is no cover crop or sod to turn under and thus add to the amount of plant food available for next year's crop, the simple loosening of the soil admits a certain amount of atmospheric oxygen and increases chemical action. Moreover, fall and winter plowing is one of the best methods of combating the various kinds of worms which frequently prove so destructive.

Many farmers believe that fall plowing lessens the amount of moisture in the soil. This belief probably arises from the fact that the surface of ground plowed in the fall is dryer at planting time in the spring, but this does not mean that there is actually less moisture in the soil. On the contrary, it means that the fall plowing has enabled the winter rain to permeate the land more thoroughly instead of remaining upon the surface. In such comparative tests as have been made it has usually been found that fall plowed ground gives better yields than spring plowed when the following summer is a dry one.

The practice of fall plowing also enables the farmer to have his land in condition for planting somewhat earlier than he otherwise would, and it is the general experience of corn growers that the earlier the corn can be planted the better. This does not mean, of course, that corn should be planted in cold or wet ground, but that the farmer should be ready to take advantage of good weather without unnecessary delay. This is especially true in the northern states, where corn must be planted as soon as the ground is sufficiently warm in order that it may have an opportunity to mature before the early fall frosts. In the south there is more room for choice, but there, too, early planting is regarded as advisable. An instance is on record where one field in Georgia that was planted in February yielded forty bushels per acre and an adjoining field planted two months later did not produce five bushels.

Where the growing season is sufficiently long it is good practice to plant at different dates, thus lessening the risk of having the entire crop killed by drought. Investigations covering a number of years have been made at various state experiment stations, with the result that experts now recommend the following dates for planting:

Middle Georgia March 18 to 20
Illinois May 11 to 13
Middle Indiana May 1 to 11
Kansas May 2
South Dakota May 10 to 20

It would, of course, be absurd for the farmer to adhere to these dates in the face of all conditions, but he will do well to remember them in planning his year's work.

KING ALBERT'S MESSAGE OF GRATITUDE TO AMERICA.

The magnificent generosity of the American people in forwarding immense quantities of gifts of foodstuffs to my suffering people affords me intense satisfaction and touches me very deeply.

In this, my country's hour of trial, nothing has supported me more than the sympathy and the superb generosity of those who have assisted in materially lessening the same, and I desire to offer my deepest thanks and at the same time to convey a message of good will for the New Year.

ALBERT,
King of the Belgians.

THREE MEXICAN CITIES HAVE PROCLAIMED A NEUTRAL ZONE

San Luis Potosi, Monterey and Saltillo Ban Fighting Near Them.

The capital cities of three Mexican states, San Luis Potosi, Monterey and Saltillo, have declared their neutrality in the factional war rending Mexico and propose to prevent any military operations in their neighborhood.

The latest novel development in the complicated Mexican situation was reported to the state department from San Luis Potosi. The governor of that state originated the scheme and says that he has obtained the co-operation of the military authorities at Saltillo and Monterey.

If the scheme is successful it will seriously affect the military situation in Mexico, for these cities are important military strongholds, and troop movements through them are necessary in operations between the north and south of the country and against Tampico and the east coast.

The authorities of the three cities declare that they intend to stop all train service between the City of Mexico and Laredo in order to keep troops of the belligerent factions out of their neighborhood. This will end the last means of communication between the City of Mexico and the United States, the Vera Cruz route being already cut in the military operations between the Zapatistas and Carranzistas in the state of Vera Cruz.

WASTE $200,000,000 IN EGGS.

One in Every Ten Broken in Transit; Three Are Addled.

Between the hen and the consumer there is a waste of $200,000,000 of eggs each year.

This was the testimony given at the attorney general's "egg trust" inquiry in New York by William Mann of the law department of the New York Central railroad, who read a letter from the department of agriculture to support his claim.

According to these figures the American egg crop is worth $700,000,000 a year, and $50,000,000 is lost through breakage in transit.

The egg as the hen lays it is almost invariably a good egg, ran the evidence, but one out of every ten eggs the hen lays for market is broken on the way there. Three of the remaining nine eggs are addled before they reach the consumer, and 40 per cent of the eggs are good only for strong palates or tanning leather.

Where Procedure is Slow.

"What's your excuse for speeding?" asked the judge.

"Oh, we live in rapid times, your honor," answered the motorist flippantly. "Everything has to speed up a bit these days."

"Not at all," said the judge. "And you will observe the contrary if you will sit down and spend the day in this courtroom. Ten dollars."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

PRIESTS AID WAR PRISONERS

Pope Sends Them to Camps, Where They Will Look to Comforts of Men.

In the hope of alleviating the discomforts of prisoners of war and the anxiety of their relatives at home Pope Benedict XV. has instructed all bishops in dioceses wherein are military prisoners to appoint one or more priests who are acquainted with the languages spoken by the imprisoned soldiers. These priests will be instructed not only to offer spiritual counsel, but so far as possible to look after the material welfare of the prisoners.

Particular efforts will be made to discover whether the prisoners have communicated with their families and if they have not done so to persuade them to send word home immediately. In cases where prisoners are unable to write letters the priests will perform this service for them. They will also use every effort to see that such letters are sent home safely.

THIS DOG A REAL EPICURE.

Terrier From Boston Is a Confirmed Vegetarian.

Mrs. M. R. L. Freshel of Boston, president of the Millennium guild, an organization which opposes the slaughter of animals, has a Yorkshire terrier that is a vegetarian.

Sister, as the terrier is known, according to Mrs. Freshel, has never eaten meat.

This is what Sister likes: Lentils, peas, beans, celery, carrots, radishes, lettuce, apples, nuts, eggs, oatmeal and buttered toast.

"Many of our diseases come from eating meat," says Mrs. Freshel, "and when I became a vegetarian twelve years ago I applied the principles to animals. My Sister has never had distemper."

"If folks would only teach their animals to eat vegetables we wouldn't have this fuss over the diseases of dogs."

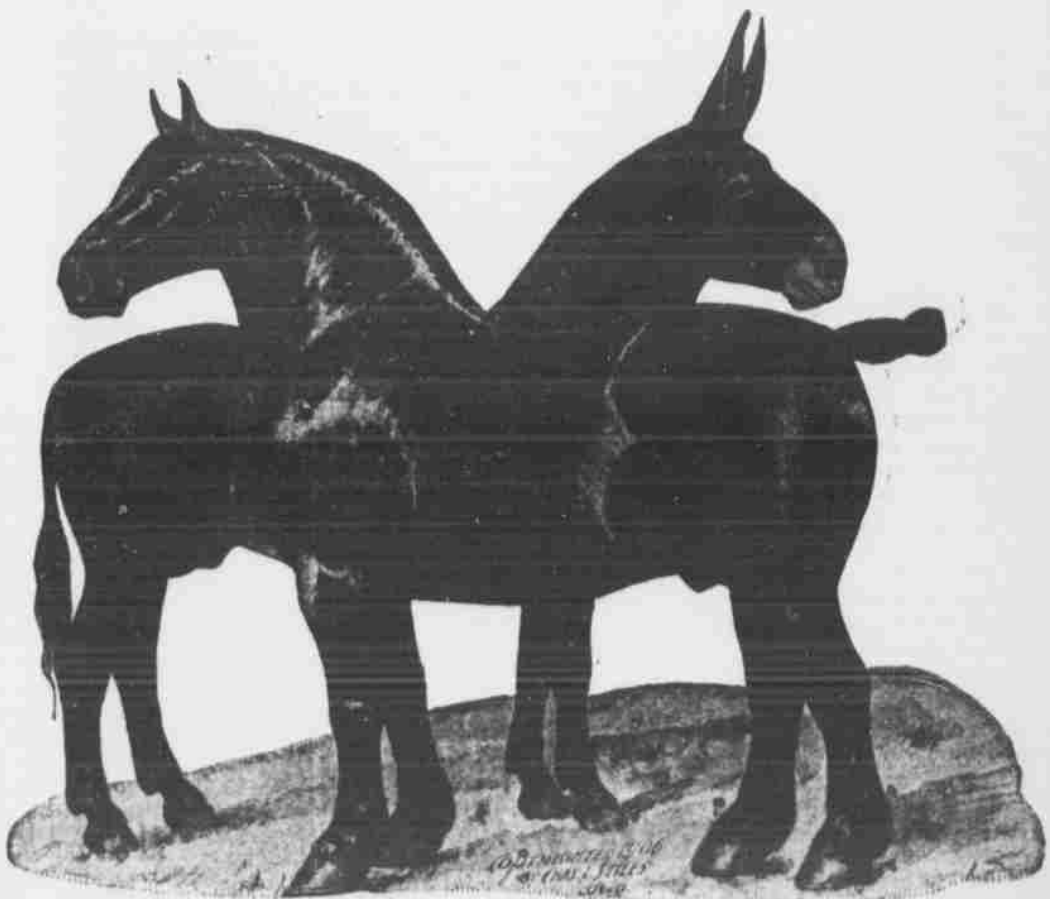

But He Did.

"What do you mean by kissing my daughter, sir?"

"I'm sorry, but I couldn't help myself."

"Couldn't help yourself! That's just what you did do!"
